

DEATH CAME IN A FLASH

Mr. W. M. Justis, Sr., Found Dead In an Office.

ON THE STREET ALL DAY

Had Fainting Spell in the Morning, but Soon Recovered and Went About Business as Usual—Had Papers Clinched in His Hands.

Mr. William M. Justis, a well known business man of Richmond and a Confederate veteran who had a fine war record, was found dead in the office of his son-in-law, Mr. Haddon S. Watkins, on the third floor of the Times-Dispatch building late last evening.

Mr. Justis must have died about 5 o'clock, or a little later. The elevator man of the building saw some one lying on the sofa of Mr. Watkins' office about 6 o'clock, but thought he was asleep. Later he went to the room and touched the sleeper, to find the flesh was cold. He at once reported the matter, and it was soon evident to all that the sleep was the sleep of death. The city coroner, Dr. Taylor, and Mr. Watkins were promptly notified. Some one, thinking life had not yet gone out of the body, sent for Dr. W. T. Oppenheimer. Mr. Watkins came with his buggy, bringing Mrs. Justis with him. Dr. Taylor learned the circumstances of the death and decided that an inquest was unnecessary. It was plain that death was due to heart failure.

Stricken While Alone.

When the light was turned on in the office it revealed the body of Mr. Justis lying half on and half off the sofa. Apparently he had been stricken and had sought to reach the sofa before falling. He had just done so. One of his hands clenched several papers which he was probably examining when the end came. The suddenness of his death will be a shock to his acquaintances. He was apparently as well yesterday as usual, and his health was generally very good for a man near to seventy-five years of age. But yesterday morning before leaving home he had a slight fainting spell. Recovering in a short while, he came down town as usual and spent the day at work. Nearly all of the office in the building were closed Saturday afternoon, and this accounts for his being alone there at the time of his death.

The remains were taken to his late residence, No. 1001 West Avenue, Lee District. The funeral arrangements will not be made before to-day, as every one of the children are out of the city. Mrs. Justis alone is here at present. But the interment will be made in Richmond, probably Monday afternoon.

Was Fine Soldier.

Deceased was born in Powhatan county nearly seventy-five years ago. The name is a well known one in that county. Mr. Justis enlisted in the army at the beginning of the war, and did excellent service in the engineering corps. The breast-works at Yorktown were built in part under his direction. Later he was engaged in an allied service in the Valley of Virginia. He was counted by all a good soldier.

About thirty years ago he brought his family to Richmond, and since that time this has been their home. At the time of his death he was engaged in the business of selling sand to builders. His children are Mrs. Haddon S. Watkins, of this city; Mrs. S. C. Fleming, of Waynesboro, Va.; Mrs. E. P. Roberts, of Newport News, Va.; Mr. W. M. Justis, Jr., a lawyer of Richmond, and Mr. Edgar L. Justis, a musician, of Camden, N. J. None are here at present. He was an uncle of Mr. R. A. Justis, the mill owner of Manchester.

DASH FOR THE POLE

Lieutenant Peary Is to Make Another Try.

HAS LEAVE OF ABSENCE

He Will Take a Number of Esquimaux and Will Adopt Their Costume.

Will Winter in Far North.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., September 5.—Commander Robert B. Peary, U. S. N., the well known Arctic explorer, will make another dash for the North Pole. Leave of absence for three years has been granted him with the permission of the President, by Mr. Darling, acting Secretary of the Navy, and he has been assured of the hearty sympathy of both these officials in his new venture.

In his letter of application for leave of absence, Commander Peary briefly outlines his plan of action. In a suitable ship built in one of our best shipyards, reinforced and strengthened to the maximum degree, and fitted with American engines, "so that it will be able to stand an exposure of an American skill and mechanical ability," Commander Peary hopes to start with his expedition about the 1st of July next.

Upon arriving at the Whale Sound district he will take aboard a large number of Esquimaux. Then he will force his way northward to Grand Land, where he hopes to establish winter quarters on the northern shore. As far as practicable along the route he will establish caches. The following February, with the earliest returning light, he will start due north over the Polar pack with a small light pioneer party and followed by a large main party.

In his letter of application to Acting Secretary of the Navy Darling for leave of absence, Commander Peary says: "I should expect to accomplish the distance to the Pole and return in about one hundred days or a little more, an average travel of about ten miles a day. Returning I should break the ship out late in the season and return home."

"If ice conditions the first year were such as to prevent reaching the northern shore of Grant Land, I should winter at a point as far north as possible, and force the ship to the desired location the following year. In this event the expedition would be gone two years."

Distinctive features of Commander Peary's plan are the use of individual sledges with comparatively light loads, drawn by dogs; the adoption of Eskimo methods and costume, and the fullest utilization of Eskimo teams.

Commander Peary believes the advantages of his plan are the use of individual sledges with comparatively light loads, drawn by dogs; the adoption of Eskimo methods and costume, and the fullest utilization of Eskimo teams.
